

9 Park Place Public Access: Personal Injury

If you have had an accident that is not your fault and you wish to make a personal injury claim, our barristers can advise you on the prospects of succeeding in your claim.

More straightforward cases will ideally settle within six months of a claim being made. If a trial is required you should contact the court centre which is hearing your case for the latest listing information but, as a guide, you might expect to have to wait up to two years for your case to be heard.

Our barristers can:

- Advise you on the merits of your case (in writing / in person / by phone)
- Represent you at court hearings
- Draft documents for you to use in court proceedings

Timescales

Timescales for our services may vary depending on factors such as barristers' availability, the complexity of your case, the need for additional documents and the other side's approach. As a guide, written advice on your case will be available within two to four weeks where possible. We appreciate that you may need representation at short notice. If so, please contact the clerks who will aim to arrange representation at the hearing for you where possible.

Fees

We do not offer our services on any form of conditional fee, contingency fee or deferred payment arrangement.

Our barristers charge between £200 and £300 plus vat per hour. Using the hourly rate as a guideline, we will always agree a fixed fee with you, in advance of doing any work and within 14 days of receiving sufficient information to be able to do so.

Your fixed fee will vary depending on your needs – for example, your fees may be towards the higher end of the range if you need a more experienced barrister and/or you have a more complex case.

Please contact the clerks in the first instance and be prepared to provide the available paperwork in your case so that we are able to accurately assess the work required in order to agree a fixed fee to advise or represent you.

If you have any questions please contact the clerks in the first instance to discuss your requirements.
